

The Bassano Mail

Published at Bassano, Alberta, Canada
Subscription $2.00 a year; Foreign $2.50
Neill Publishing Company, Publishers
James L. Neill, Editor

May God forbid our saying on this page the things that merely please. We would be humble in our opinions; we would be considerate of the opinions of others; but we would not be swayed by the immutable laws of cause and effect; for therein lies the wisdom of the ages.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

Welcome New Year!

You will bring trials, troubles and disappointments but you are also sure to bring a share of happiness.

Fortunately mankind cannot see ahead and so can look forward to the brighter things without worrying about the troubles. The old year passes on and the vista ahead looks bright and clean, like a new fallen snow.

Or like a distant mountain top at dawn, with shades of rose lightly traced on new-minted gold.

Everything bright and clean and fairy-like.

Humanity struggling over it will spoil the picture of perfection but momentarily the vision is perfect.

Anyway we hope that 1936 will bring happier times to our country, our province, and our district.

We hope the worst is over and the long-looked-for silver lining will show more brightly.

All of us have a part to do and must work it out the best way we can.

"Don't let us think our little jobs are hardly ever seen."

Remember, every blade of grass

Helps make the meadows green.

And so to everyone we extend the hearty and sincere wish and hope —

"Happy New Year."

PROBLEMS FOR 1936

Canada has plenty of problems to face in 1936. Most of them are inherited from past years, it is true. But they are problems that have to be solved eventually. If solutions are found in the coming year so much the better.

The railway problem is the most outstanding one in the Dominion. The question presses itself forward in a way that cannot be set aside. How is this country to find a way out of a dilemma which costs $1,000,000 a week, or thereabouts?

It is alright to say that there should be no amalgamation but should there be a continuance of this terrific loss? Can a way be found that will support two great railway systems adequately? Is public ownership to be a perpetual "black eye" through the impossibility of profitable operation of the Canadian Northern Railway system?

A compromise, practical way out must be found sooner or later for Canada if bankruptcy is not to ensue. The sooner this way is found the better for every individual in this country.

The unemployment problem ranks next to that of the railways. What is going to be done with those who cannot find work? Is the dole the only answer? If so, our statesmen possess limited vision and our future narrows in perspective.

Surely there must be work somewhere and at something for all Canadians who want to work! Maybe they cannot obtain the wages and working conditions they desire or have been privileged to enjoy in the past. But work of any kind is preferable to the discouraging and ambition-sapping dole. Work is mankind's greatest friend and blessing. The workless are more to be pitied than any other class.

The wheat problem possibly ranks third in Canada. If the surplus can be moved this coming year and a better balance obtained, so much the better. An active wheat market with a substantial demand at a reasonable price will do more to restore good times in Canada than any other thing. The west, in particular, depends upon wheat production and wheat prices, and what a blessing it will be for this country if this problem is solved!

The tariff problem comes close behind. Western Canada from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Ocean is utterly surfeited with the ostensible greed of eastern Canada, who wants the best prices in the world for their handiwork and desires to keep from all Canada the products of the skill of other nations. This cannot go on. It MUST NOT go on. If it does the West will surely leave the east to start out on a journey of its own. The tariff problem is one of the toughest in the Dominion but it must be tackled and a solution must be found.

The west needs markets throughout the world and markets it must have. Excesses have been put up with for years but the time for action is at hand. It now looks like a revival was due and Canada should step out with the ambition to restore world trade. The trade of the world declined by two-thirds in the past five years. Unless the human race is not bent on economic suicide this must be at least partially restored. Canada depends upon trade more than almost any other world nation. She should lead the way back to commonsense international thinking.

Problems aplenty has the Dominion of Canada but all of these can be solved by intelligent thinking and commonsense action. If there is determination to accomplish things this country will progress in 1936. If not, the passage of another year will still see the Dominion wallowing in the trough of the depression.

BOYS AND APPLES

The boy is indeed the true apple-eater, and is not to be questioned how he came by the fruit with which his pockets are filled. It belongs to him, and he may steal it if it can't be had in any other way. His juicy apple flesh carries the juicy flesh of the apple. Sap draws sap. His fruit-eating has little reference to the state of his appetite. Whether he be full of meat or empty of meat he wants the apple just the same. Before meal or after meal it never comes amiss. The farm boy munches apples all day long. He has nests of them in the hay-mow, mellowing, to which he makes frequent visits.

The apple is indeed the fruit of youth. As we grow old we crave apples less. It is an ominous sign. When you are ashamed to be seen eating them on the street, when you carry them in your pocket and your hand rest constantly find its way to them; when your neighbor has apples and you have none, and you make no nocturnal visits to his orchard; when your lunch-basket is without them and you can pass a winter's night by the fireside with no thought of the fruit at your elbow, then be assured you are no longer a boy, either in heart or years. — John Burroughs.

THE COME-BACK

by Tim Longbotham

Though you're wholly up against it,

And the laughing stock of town,

There's no need to speak of quitting,

Nor to sit and sadly frown;

Rally once again, old-timer,

Kiss farewell to doubts and fears,

Up and battle onward, fellow,

With a smile instead of tears.

Yes, I know you're rather weary

And your prospects pretty slim,

But ever keep on fighting!

Is the tip from Uncle Tim.

Don't forget that lots of fellows

Have been nearly counted out,

But got up again, by heck,

And let go the winning clout.

Once "The Wild Bull of the Pampas"

Made the fistic kingdom sing,

When he hooked young Mister Dempsey

Far, by gee, outside the ring.

Did hold Jackie weep in sorrow!

Why, no sir, he only awoke,

And came back to lay the creature

Flat upon the Garden floor.

Yeah, I know you're not a Dempsey,

Any more than little me,

But with you I'll leave this question,

So my reasoning you'll see:

"Had the 'Mauler' been a piker,

How could he have won renown

If he had not sailed in down?

To hammer the bozo down?"

1935 IN RETROSPECT

The Mail sincerely thanks all its advertisers and other customers who patronized home printing during the past year. Looking back on 1935, we have found merchants and businessmen of Bassano more than willing to do their parts in keeping their home newspaper on its feet. May we wish for continuation of this support.

In return for this spirit of co-operation we hope to keep the welfare of Bassano uppermost in our minds and in our paper.

We also wish to thank our country correspondents who, without pay, write weekly news letters to brighten up our columns. Without them The Mail could not hope to keep reader interest alive.

Best luck and good health attend you in 1936.

Ten Minutes with the Scotch Philosopher

"Two little incidents which occurred during the annual Christmas Tree entertainment again reminded us that 'kind hearts are better than coronets.' Through the thoughtfulness of the members of a district athletic organization, many mothers, along with the pupils and kiddies under school age, received nice gifts of candles, etc. The other was the collecting of a very substantial sum of money to buy comforts for a man confined in a distant city hospital. Although the ailing one left the district many years ago, he was well remembered for his generous conduct to the boys and girls, and it was very pleasing to see some of his own good will speed back to him in the hour of misfortune."

Notwithstanding many ups and downs (mostly the latter), little deeds like these convince us that the big west is a good place to live in.

Turning the other cheek is a noble pastime indeed, but once in a while reversal of the preceding holds for happy results. Ever since school opened in the fall, two boys have passed by, and the conduct of the latter one has been most commendable. He meditates on the queer ways of boys — and men. He abused the little fellow in the most shameless way, but when it came to the point of the school, he probably did more harm than good, we decided to await events.

The waiting was rather unpleasant, but our day early in December the worm turned with a vengeance. It came a rule-kick on the shins for daring to abuse his comrade. The little guy planted his hand, dirty as on the bully's knee, taking him right off his feet.

Then, disdaining the rules and regulations laid down by the departed Marquis of Queensbury, he proceeded to bang his opponent's head on the frozen ground, until a brown, with the sort end in the hands of a peace-loving old farm lady, made him desist. For a number of days thereafter they came to school a long distance apart, but just before the holiday season they appeared to have slugged a truce for the pair were seen coming along in a very friendly manner.

While discussing the matter with our better half, we likened it to the most respectful fashion to her suggestion that the boys had been brought together again by the Christmas spirit.

Women are always wiser than men, especially where the problems of youth are concerned, but at the beginning of this riddle tale we indicated something else, and we still believe there are special occasions when a few bawdy wallops prove excellent medicine.

After listening to President Roosevelt's radio greeting to the American people on Christmas Eve, we got to thinking—not for the first time—that although the chief executive of the great republic is ever confronted with mighty problems, life is no more than its compensating features during the term of office. First and most important of these is the respect bestowed on the occupant of the White House by all classes of his fellow countryman.

True it is that frothing demagogues and political schemers would sometimes lead a stranger to believe that the country was on the verge of revolution.

Nor can it be denied that newspapermen of a certain variety love to enlarge on the weaknesses of human nature, which even the godliest of men are subject to. Such proceedings, however, have little influence on the loyalty of the masses to the one who, by virtue of his position, is head of the army and navy, as well as the state. During our years of residence on the other side of the border, we had the good fortune of listening to important speeches from the lips of these stalwart presidents of bygone days, W. H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt.

Although speaking in what might be described as hostile political camps, nothing impressed us more than the genuine esteem and affection in which they were held by the huge audiences.

In the current issue of Maclean's magazine, the editor comments, in a humorous fashion on the good-natured leader he has met with reaction from many of his readers. This situation came about because that gentleman is in the habit of using the word "we" while his articles are signed as an individual.

It so happens that, while conducting a column in a weekly journal, a long time ago, the farmer was made under the same kind of fire.

Getting lots of fun out of the situ-

In Lighter Vein

"Are you positive the defendant was drunk?" asked the judge.

"No doubt," replied the officer.

"Why are you so certain?"

"Well," replied the officer, "I saw him put a penny in the patrol box on Fourth Street, look up at the clock on the courthouse and about 'I've lost it pounds."

Father: Do you know that a single fly can have a thousand flies?"

Son: Goodness! How many does the married ones have?

Madam: Madam, the spirit of your husband wishes to speak to you.

Madam: It can't be him. Henry never had any spirit.

Mrs. Gutrich: Yes, our little Henry is wonderfully smart in school.

Callie: What is he studying?

Mrs. Gutrich: He's studying French and Spanish and algebra. Henry, say 'good morning' to the lady in all-gates.

Little Fellow (to next door neighbor): Say, mister, are you the fellow who gave my little brother a dog last week?

Neighbor: Yes.

Little Fellow: Well, my brother says for you to come and take them all back.

alton, our friendly editor, expressed many of his readers for their opinions and found that the great majority favored the use of "we." Thus the pen has been continued, but if any of our present readers wish to discuss the matter further, this could be done quite readily by writing a letter to the editor.

Don't be haphazard in coming forward, but for the love of Mike have a heart

Doctor: There goes the only woman I have ever loved.

Druggist: Well, why don't you marry her?

Doctor: I can't afford to. She's my best patient.

The officer took out his book and pointed his stubby pencil. "What's your name?"

"John Smith."

"Yer real name," bawled the officer.

"Well, then, put me down as William Shakespeare."

"That's better. Yuh can't fool me with that Smith stuff."

"Am dere anybody in de congregation what desires prayer for dere elust?" asked the colored preacher.

"Yassuh," shouted Brother Johnson. "Ah's a spen'chiff, Ah throws mah money 'round reckless."

"We will all join in prayer for Brother Johnson," said the pastor, "jes' after de collection plate have been passed."

Gumble: This butter is so strong it could walk over and say "hello" to the coffee.

Gumble: Yes, and the coffee is too weak to answer.

and don't say our composition and punctuation are all squeaky.

Please bear in mind that we earn our tea and tobacco by the sweat on the flanks of our horses, and if we ever passed to consider these things while talking in Scotch to our old place, we'd be up Lost Creek in less than a week.

Isn't that partly right, anyway, farmers?

A penny then might buy a pastry, or ten of them take one to the Fair, but your great-uncle couldn't have gone to a movie at any price.

Sixty years ago the ladies could go shopping for dry goods and buy silks that would make you green with envy, linens that were linens and broadcloths that beggar description. But what their favorite store did not have they usually got along without.

You can pick up your newspaper and in fifteen minutes you can know what the different shops are offering in fabrics, patterns, varieties and qualities that great-grandmother never dreamed could be gathered together under any conditions.

Times have changed, and so have merchandise and business methods. One of the influences that has helped to bring about so much change, that has helped to multiply opportunities and increase the spending size of our pennies is advertising.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

Every merchant,—every manufacturer,—knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or

LOUIS CONN Phone 7
Groceries Crockery Men's Wear

NEW YEAR SPECIALS

SUGAR—100 lb sack $6.19
FLOUR—No. 1, 100 lb sack $2.75
BREADS BEST COFFE $1.10
BROKEN ORANGE PEKOE—1 lb 49c
PINEAPPLE—Special, 2 cans for 25c
JAM—Plum and Apple, per tin 25c
SPICES—All kind, Special, 3 tin for 25c
JELLY POWDER—Assorted Flavors, 5 pkgs. for 25c
TOILET SOAP—Mild, Special, 17 bars for 99c
LAUNDRY SOAP—Our Best Napier, 25 bars for 99c
CHRISTMAS CHOCOLATES—7 lb. tin, Special for 25c
CHRISTMAS NUTS—Mixed, per lb 10c
BEAUTY—Special, per lb 10c
APPLES—Mainland Raisin, per box $1.49

MEN'S WEAR
JOHN N.B. STETSON HATS—Same Price as in U.S.A.
COWBOY KING PANT OVERALLS—Pair $2.15
BLACK WINDBREAKER—For men, with zipper $4.95
DRESS SOCKS—For men, reg. 40c, Special, 3 pairs for 51c

See us for Your Floor Coverings and Furniture
MATTRESSES—Reg. $10, on Special for $8.95
FLOOR CONGOLEUMS—Attractive patterns, 72" wide, lineal yard from $1 to $1.25 per yard.
CONGOLEUM RUGS—9x10 1-2, on Special $9.75
9x12, on Special $10.25

BRING OR SHIP US YOUR FURS AND HIDES
We Pay Highest Prices

We Also Carry a Large Assortment of Shells, Guns and Traps

FREE DELIVERY

SCHOOL REPORT

Grade III

Effie Droni 85.5
Mary Pragnell 85.5
Peter Reimer 88.8
Wally Phillips 88.7
Margaret Shorance 88.2
Peter Deegan 87.8
Shirley Smith 87.6
Rubble MacLean 88.8
Gordon Walker 86.5
Elsie Boyce 87.6
Madeline Simola 87.6
Elsie Greenwood 81.5
Donald Fraser 80.5
Elsie Hermannson 80.6
Ruth Beringer 80.6

Grade IV

Joan Shorance 92.7
Mary Ann Gamble 90.6
Nick Chisak 88
Dorothy Mary Travis 87.2
Rubble Holst 87.2
Hillie Stiles 83.5
Charlie Hayes 82.7
Nellie McBride 82.6
Tolly Redmond 82.4
Raymond White 81.4
Irene LePage 80.8
Rubble Stiles 80.1
Rubble Wright 79.8
Donald Burgess 78.8
Jean Taylor 72

Dr. A. G. Scott
M. D., L. M. C. C.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

Telephones
Office 37 - Residence 131

B. E. BARLOW
VETERINARY SURGEON
M. B. A., Toronto
M. V. A., Alberta
Government Official Veterinarian
PHONE 20 BASSANO

HARRY HOLMES
CARPENTER AND BUILDER
Estimates Given on All Work
If you are in need of building or carpenter work of any kind
PHONE 16

WILLIAM McLAWS
Barrister - Solicitor - Notary
BASSANO - ALBERTA
Phones: Office 6 - Residence 1.

A. T. CONNOLLY
Registered Optometrist
Broken lenses replaced from prescription or pieces. Absolute satisfaction guaranteed. Quick service
BASSANO, ALBERTA

WALTER K. WEBB
BARRISTER - SOLICITOR
NOTARY PUBLIC
Phones: Office 35 - Residence 46
BASSANO - ALBERTA

W. S. PLAYFAIR
FEBD - AUTO DELIVERY - DRAYING
Agency for
Galt Coal
PHONE 26 Opposite Depot

If Printers Would Listen

The printer gets plenty of advice, admonition, suggestions and criticisms. If he listens to the cost expert, he knows the cost in money of each revolution of the press and the value of each tick of the clock.

If he listens to the customer, he will do the highest quality of work, give the most service, and charge a price actually below the cost of production.

If he listens to the secretary of the association, he will attend every meeting, keep awake, and also pay his dues in advance.

If he listens to the supply men, he will discount all his bills and hustle to get more ink and paper.

If he listens to the lunch meeting speaker, he will make two jobs of printing grow where none grew before and become a creative salesman.

If he listens to the trade composition men, he will form out the composition work, the presswork and binding, and merely use his plant to assemble the job.

If he listens to the purchasing agent, he knows he is a blunderer and bolder and that any printer will do the job for less.

If he listens to the hurry-up buyer he will get the order at eleven and have proofs at two.

If he listens to the union, he will run the plant on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

If he listens to the machinery men, he will have the biggest plant in town.

If he listens to the type experts he will be able to run new type faces each week.

If he listens to the trade journals he will be absolutely perfect.

But, thank the Lord, he doesn't listen. —Pacific Printer and Publisher.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

Hussar

HUSSAR, Dec. 29. Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been visiting his brother here for a week, returned to Calgary on Monday.

SAYS BREWERS NOT IN FAVOR BANNING ADVT.

Walford Denies Rumor Industry Wanted Elimination of Distributors

Brewers of the province were flustered back of the proposal to eliminate beer advertising from the press nor have the government take over the functions of Distributors Limited, stated J. H. Walford, general manager of Associated Breweries Limited, on his return from Regina, Friday.

Mr. Walford's statement to the Herald was as follows:

"The suggestion, contained in the columns of recent editions of Alberta newspapers, that the brewers supported the plan to forbid advertising of beers and liquors in newspapers, in the belief that advertising did not materially assist them, and that it was costly, is unfair to the brewers."

"It is equally unfair to say that the brewers favored the elimination of Distributors Limited," continued Mr. Walford. "On the contrary, we feel that it is a backward step which will be injurious to both our and the hotelkeepers' business and cause much inconvenience to the general public. Either the government will be forced to institute a similar system or beer sales will be reduced in favor of hard liquor."

Cautious Inconvenience
"We judge that no change in distribution will be made until we act."

T. L. Montgomery on January 9.
Risks and weather permitting, Rev. A. R. Aldridge will hold services in the school house at 12:15 on Sunday, January 12.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Lawrie and sons spent Christmas with Mr. Lawrie's parents in Calgary, and Mr. J. A. Collins returned with them on Thursday and visited Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bell and other friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Holford motored up from Warner on Christmas day for a week's stay with Mrs. Moffat and family, returning on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sean motored up from Warner on Friday to visit with Mrs. Swan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tietney.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Trowel returned from a stay in Calgary on Saturday. Messrs. C. T. Armstrong and G. Christensen were Bassano visitors on Thursday.

Miss E. E. Roper and daughter, Gladys, from Edmonton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bell. Mr. and Mrs. Newsman and children of Innisfail, who have been visiting Mrs. Newsman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bell, left on Tuesday for home.

Mr. Ivan Montgomery motored to Calgary on Sunday.

On Friday the Misses Margaret and Nettie Lettendon and Mr. Law of Chaudron went to join Gordon Lettendon at Rocky Mountain House.

Manville and Ivan Andersen and Mrs. P. R. Reeves were Bassano visitors on Friday.

Miss Amelia Gombert and Mr. Peterson motored up on Friday evening to attend the reception for Mr. and Mrs. P. Barker of Chaudron.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hobbs were also over to entertain on Friday evening.

Mr. H. B. Stott and Mrs. Stott were up from Bassano on Friday evening.

The Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Edith Burdett.

Virgil Sanden and Marjorie Burdett.

Lois Schelling and Brian Sanden.

Nettie Lettendon and Mr. Law of Chaudron went to join Gordon Lettendon at Rocky Mountain House.

Manville and Ivan Andersen and Mrs. P. R. Reeves were Bassano visitors on Friday.

Miss Amelia Gombert and Mr. Peterson motored up on Friday evening to attend the reception for Mr. and Mrs. P. Barker of Chaudron.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hobbs were also over to entertain on Friday evening.

Mr. H. B. Stott and Mrs. Stott were up from Bassano on Friday evening.

The Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Edith Burdett.

Virgil Sanden and Marjorie Burdett.

Lois Schelling and Brian Sanden.

to the disadvantage of the purchaser who has no proper means of transportation to handle bulky packages to his residence and which may ultimately result in driving him to the purchase of more ardent liquor which is put up in smaller packages more easily carried.

"The conclusion," said Mr. Walford, "I should like to point out that Distributors Limited was formed with the full approval of the government at that time with a view to eliminating open competition among the brewer with all its attendant criticism. We understand that another provision under any scheme of distribution is seriously considering the early adoption of a similar system to that now in force in Alberta."

All adult persons living in the Hospital District may become hospital supporters by the payment of six dollars before February 25.

A hospital supporter is entitled to hospital services at a rate of $1.00 per week for himself, his wife, dependent female help resident with him. Hospitalers receive credit on the six dollar fee for the amount of hospital tax based on their property as shown by the last tax notice, which must be produced. Non-interventors and renters or boarders are required to pay the full six dollars to become hospital supporters. Where two or more persons or families live on the same property only one person or family may receive credit for the taxes levied, the others pay six dollars. Credit for tax levies must be shown unless the tax notice for the last year be produced. Persons obtaining the fee should send their tax notice with their remittance. It will be returned with the receipt.

Bassano Municipal Hospital District consists of:
Township 12 Ranges 18 and 19
Township 13 Range 18 west of the Box River
Township 14 Ranges 15-16-17-18-19-20
Township 20 Ranges 15-16-17-18-19-20
Township 21 Ranges 15-16-17-18-19-20
Township 22 Ranges 15-16-17-18-19-20
Township 23 Range 15 west of river and 15-16-17-18-19-20
Township 24 Range 15 west of river and 15-16-17-18-19-20
Township 25 Ranges 15-16-17-18-19-20
The Town of Bassano and the Village of Hays.

The Hospital Privileges are offered to persons residing outside the Hospital District on payment of $12.00 between Jan. 1 and Feb. 15.

NOTICE

Bassano Municipal Hospital District No. 6

WANTED IMMEDIATELY

10,000

Jack Rabbits

ALSO SKUNK AND WEASEL

HIGHEST PRICES PAID

Write or Call
W. W. Charlton & Sons
Millmont

We Extend to Every One of Our Customers and Friends Sincere Wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year

STILES. "The Druggist"

"The Rexall Store"

THESE FAMOUS BEERS OF ALBERTA

are brewed from the choicest ingredients, yet each of the five brands have a distinctive flavour all its own. But all attain only one quality—the very finest.

Order a case of your favorite brand from our nearest warehouse.

Phone 82 Bassano

DISTRIBUTORS LIMITED
AGENTS FOR THE BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

are brewed from the choicest ingredients, yet each of the five brands have a distinctive flavour all its own. But all attain only one quality—the very finest.

Order a case of your favorite brand from our nearest warehouse.

Local and Personal News

B. G. Callbeck is at his home in Calgary for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith were in Calgary over the week end.

Grant Elliott of Calgary was a Basano visitor over New Year's.

Mrs. J. Rathbone and Richard were in Calgary for a couple days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wright were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T.M. Simpson for a few days during the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Syd Keith of Calgary spent Christmas with Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Keith.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Webb spent Christmas with relatives in Lethbridge.

George Love, of Cheshmerek Lake, is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. O. Love.

Doug Van Kleeck is the guest of Rusty Basano during their vacation from the University.

Miss Winifred Playfair of Patricia is spending the holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Playfair.

Miss Hazel Barlow, Miss Dorothy Flanagan and Miss Florence Playfair are home for the vacation from Calgary Normal.

Those home from University to spend the holiday are George Scott, Rusty Basano, Ari Thompson and Dante Ubertino.

The "Harmony 26," a social club formed by a large number of progressive young people, entertained their parents to a program followed by a dance on Dec. 22 in the Odd-fellows Hall.

Together with many others, we were sorry to see A. J. (Frank) Bartlett leave last Monday to take up residence in Calgary. Frank has been a resident of Basano for the past two years, during which time he created a large circle of friends and took part in many community activities.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Weir and sons Bob and Kenny spent last Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at Mr. and Mrs. S. Leonard's. They went on to Empress to spend Christmas with Mrs. Weir's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. York.

Those home about town, R. G. Flak, E. J. Gammon and A. J. Bartlett journeyed to Calgary on Christmas Eve, the latter two remaining in the city and the former continuing on to High River to spend Christmas at the home of his parents there.

Miss Grace Dunlap is at her home in Stettler for the holiday season.

Miss V. McCannell is at her home in Calgary for the holiday.

Ted Biles is visiting this week in Strathmore.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sandgathe were in Calgary for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McNaughton were in Strathmore for Christmas.

Miss Violet Bramley spent Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bramley.

The Misses Jean and Phyllis Plummer are home from Glen and Grants respectively, for the holiday season.

Miss Eleanor Birnie of Medicine Hat was visiting at Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Birnie.

Ralph Allison of Picture Butte and Austin and Douglas Ford of Calgary motored down to spend New Year's in Basano.

Miss Margaret Harper, who underwent an operation for appendicitis on December 23, is progressing favorably in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hage of Swale are visiting in Cooness at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Newby recently moved to Brooks where Mr. Newby has been transferred by the C.P.R. Residents of Basano for the past number of years, we regret their leaving, but feel sure they will meet with every success in our neighboring community of Brooks.

Robt. H. Donaldson of Calgary is spending the holiday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Donaldson. Jim Donaldson of Okotoks also was at his home here for Christmas.

Basano W.I. Notes

The Basano Women's Institute will hold their regular meeting on Tuesday, January 7, at 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. E. Corbett. Visitors are cordially invited to come.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Harchuk of Hasser, a daughter, on December 30.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wiebe of Rosemary, a daughter, on January 2.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price of Cooness, a daughter, on January 2.

Knox Presbyterian Church

Sunday, January 5, 1936
Sunday School — 11 a.m.
Evening Service — 7:30 p.m.
Services Conducted by Mr. G. W. Pickup of Calgary

Sermon Subject—
"STOCK TAKING"
or
"The Kind of Church We Need in this the Twentieth Century"

OBITUARY

EDITH HILDA ANDERSEN
Mrs. Edith Hilda Andersen, wife of Mr. A. A. Andersen, aged 47, passed away in Basano hospital at 2:15 p.m. on Sunday, December 29, after a lingering illness. Funeral services will be held at the Knox Presbyterian church, in Basano, on Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The pall bearers will be Messrs. H. D. Brown, E. J. Bell, W. G. Nelson, R. Schooling, R. Hulen and E. A. Holland.

Deceased was born at Ross, Iowa. With her husband and two sons she came to Hasser in the spring of 1912, where she was an active worker in the Aid and for the general good of the community, where she was highly respected and loved by all. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, her two sons, Manville and Ivan, her mother, Mrs. Otto Duode of Gray, Iowa, her brother, Otto Duode of Gray, Iowa; her sisters, Mrs. F. Kister of Missoula, Mont.; Miss Florence Duode of Fort Dodge, Iowa; and Mrs. E. Baross of Manning, Iowa; Mrs. M. Hildner of Hamilton, Iowa; Mrs. Hodge, Coon Rapids, Iowa; Mr. J. Andersen, Irwin, Iowa; and Mr. Martin Anderson of Heyson, Alberta. Rev. H. E. Gordon of Langdon will conduct the services.

JOHN GEORGE STEINBACH
John George Steinbach, aged 76, passed away at his home south of Basano on December 9. Death was attributed to heart failure. The deceased was born in Germany in 1859; he married and came west, settling in Iowa in 1882 where he took up farming. In the spring of 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Steinbach and family moved to Canada, settling on a farm six miles south of Basano, where they have resided since. At that time this was the only dwelling between Basano and Bow City.

During the twenty-five years that Mr. Steinbach lived here, he established a large circle of friends and was well known throughout the district. The absence of his genial nature and kind understanding will be deeply felt — another old-timer has passed on.

Those surviving to mourn his absence are his wife, Mrs. J. G. Steinbach; four sons, Henry, Joseph, Herman and Bernard; a daughter, Mrs. McArthur of Iowa. Funeral services were held from St. Columba Catholic church in Basano and were attended by a large number of friends from the whole district.

Gem Dance Friday

Last call to attend the big dance to be held in Gem on Friday night, December 3. Prizes, novelties and novelty dances, and don't forget that big Gift Box full of presents.

CLUNY MAN WINS CURLING CLUB DRAW

C. F. Herman of Cluny won the curling rocks offered by the Basano Curling club as the prize in a lucky ticket draw. The number was 85, and was sold by Wm. McEwan.

The proceeds of the draw will be used towards paying for improvements recently done to the rink and for operations this season.

WEDDINGS

A pretty wedding took place at the Knox United church on Wednesday afternoon, December 11, when Miss Irene Granger of Gem, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Waltemath, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Waltemath, also of Gem. Rev. W. F. Kelloway officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, becomingly gowned in white satin, floor length, and wearing a veil trimmed with orange blossoms, carried a bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses. She entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elaine Granger, and the bridegroom by Mr. Hans Molin. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the dining room of the Waine hotel.

In the evening a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dawson, 1179 Second avenue north-east, at which eighty friends of the bride and groom attended. Following a brief honeymoon in Calgary, the young couple will reside in Hobema, Alberta.

NEW YEAR SPECIALS
from McKee's

MEN'S WEAR DEPARTMENT

Men's heavy Jumbo Knit pure wool Sweater Coats, very special value, come in plain black only. SPECIAL PRICE, each—

2.79

Men's Heavy Jumbo Knit all wool Sweater Coats, black with Cardinal and round front, excellent quality, well made garments. SPECIAL PRICE, each—

3.29

Men's Heavy Grey Chambray Work Shirts, a manufacturers' clearing line, well tailored, with double yoke, 2 breast pockets.—Regular Price 1.35, SPECIAL PRICE, each—

99c

V Neck Pullovers

for boys, black wool with white and cardinal trim at neck and bottom, badge on breast, sizes 26 to 34, SPECIAL PRICE—

99c

Boys' Jerseys

in smart new heather mixtures, come in hard wearing pure wool knits, excellent for school wear, sizes 24 to 32. SPECIAL PRICE, each—

99c

Men's Combinations

in silver fleece, Penman's famed No. 27, great strength combined with warmth and wash splendidly. SPECIAL PRICE, suit—

1.49

All Wool Sox

for men, heavy for winter wear, in Code's and Penman's qualities, guaranteed to give excellent wear. SPECIAL PRICE, pair—

29c

39c

49c

LADIES' WEAR DEPARTMENT

Ladies' House Dresses

in floral prints and broadcloths, all new styles, mostly in small sizes, 32, 34, 36. Regular Price 1.95. SPECIAL PRICE, each—

99c

Ladies' Rayon Pajamas

Smartly tailored in blue and green with contrasting color trim; will wear and wash well. SPECIAL PRICE, pair—

1.29

Orient Silk Hose

Service weight, vapor crepe or fine chiffon, come in all the new colors. Sizes 9, 9 1/2, 10. SPECIAL PRICE, pair—

89c

Panties and Bloomers

Made by Harvey-Woods, an excellent quality line at a low price, garments that give excellent wear. SPECIAL PRICE—

49c

French Tapestry Purses

for ladies, lined, zipper fastener, inside pockets, beautiful quality. Regular Price 3.95, SPECIAL PRICE, each—

1.95

Fancy Goods of Every Description

Compacts, Powder Boxes, Smokers' Sets, Ash Trays, Hosiery and Handkerchief Case—All at greatly reduced prices.

GROCERY DEPARTMENT

SPAGHETTI—With Cheese and Tomato Sauce, Heinz, 2 lbs.	29c	CANNED SOUP—Heinz Spinach or Mushroom, 2 tins	33c
QUICK TAPIOCA—McLaren's Minute Style, 2 pkts.	25c	MOLASSES—Domolco, Finest Table, 2-lb tins	30c
WHEAT KRISPIES—Rice and Wheat 2-lb pkt.	15c	JAM—Pure Raspberry or Strawberry, 4-lb tins	67c
TOMATO JUICE—Aylmer Brand, 3 tins	23c	CANNED TOMATOES—King Beach, choice, large tins, 2 for	25c
PRUNES—Sunsweet Tenderized, 2-lb pkt.	27c	TEA—AG Economy, lb	1.25
COCOA—Cowan's Perfection, 1-lb tins	25c	COFFEE—Economy Blend, freshly ground or bean, lb	33c
MAPLE SYRUP—Pure, Made in Quebec, pint bottles	30c	SOAP—Olympic Pine Tar for Shampoo or Bath, 3 bars	95c
PINEAPPLE—Singapore Sliced, 3 tins	39c	TOILET TISSUE—Purux Super, Refined, 3 rolls	25c
CANNED VEGETABLES—Can Peas, Can Green Beans, Tin Niblets, 3 tins	43c
PEANUT BUTTER—Squirrel Brand, quart sealers, each	41c	Fresh Supplies of All Seasonable Fruits and Vegetables Arriving for the Week-end
RICE—No. 1 Monarch Jap, 3 lbs	21c

PEEK FREN BISCUITS

Packed in Air-Tight Containers
Osborne, Petit Beaune, Oval Digestive
Per Pkt. 21c

McKEE'S STORES

"Always at Your Service"

Phone 9 for Prompt Delivery

We Extend to Every One of Our Customers and Friends

Sincere Wishes

for a

Happy and Prosperous

New Year

JAMES JOHNSTON

"The Quality Store"